Equitas has maintained its unwavering commitment to proactive involvement in social initiatives, going beyond the mandated corporate social responsibility (CSR) requirements. In 2007, just two months after Equitas was founded, the Equitas Trust (EDIT) was established to spearhead a diverse range of social programs encompassing Health, Education, and Skill Training. Equitas voluntarily decided to allocate 5% of its profits to support EDIT, a commitment that continues to this day, surpassing the statutory 2% requirement introduced in 2013.

Opening of the Sringeri Saradha Equitas Cancer & Multi-Specialty Hospital, which is now fully operational for the under privileged people

This development comes in response to the pressing demand for cancer treatment, particularly within the economically disadvantaged segments of our community. Our commitment to closing this gap is reflected in our pledge to offer affordable cancer treatment services. Importantly, the pricing of our treatment plans will remain reasonable, with no incorporation of capital expenditure costs. While our primary focus is on providing free or subsidized treatment to economically disadvantaged individuals, we are pleased to extend access to these facilities to the broader public as well.

SKILL DEVELOPMENT TRAINING

WOMEN EMPOWERMENT

Providing skill development training to women from economically disadvantaged backgrounds empowers them to generate income, either as their primary source or as a supplementary income. By producing various items, these women not only fulfill their household needs more affordably but also potentially create a profitable business by selling their creations. In this context, various Skill Development Training programs are conducted PAN-INDIA.

an inspirational journey

Rehabilitated Pavement Dweller, Hemavathy

After

Hemavathy, known as Hema, came into this world to a family residing on the streets, struggling to make ends meet. Hema, the eldest daughter of the family, worked tirelessly to support her family and younger siblings. Tragedy struck when she lost her father to tuberculosis, followed by her mother succumbing to stomach-related health issues. At the time of these losses, Hema was already married with children.

Hema marital life was broken by a deeply distressing situation as she found herself in an abusive relationship with her husband. The hardships were worse as she had to care for her two daughters in this challenging environment. Eventually, the circumstances forced her to make a difficult decision and move out of the home. She made a brave escape from her troublesome household, seeking refuge with her grandmother on the pavement, all while caring for her 7-year-old second daughter.

Hema's life on the streets was incredibly challenging. Access to basic amenities like a bathroom was a constant struggle. What's more, a month before, a horrifying incident occurred when an unknown person abused a young child while they were sleeping on the pavement. These traumatic experiences haunted Hema, making her determined to find a safe haven for her daughter.

Equitas Intervention

It was during this difficult period, Equitas CSR Homeless Rehabilitation team approached Hema on the pavement. They offered counseling and extended their support to help her transition to a new home. With gratitude and hope, she accepted their assistance and embraced the opportunity to start living in a new rented home with her daughter.

Worklife, with daughter safe at home

In her new home, Hema finally found the security and happiness she longed for. This newfound stability allowed her to leave her daughter at home with peace of mind as she ventured out to work, making a living as a delivery person for the food and grocery delivery industry.

Who is Hemavathy

Hema, a confident woman, began her career in a bank's backend verification team after completing high school, starting with a 5000 INR salary. Over 16 years, she climbed the corporate ladder, earned a bachelor's degree via correspondence, and helped her siblings settle down. Despite facing difficulties and quitting her career, she now works as a delivery executive, advocates against abuse, and teaches dance to children, inspiring others to believe that women can overcome challenges and succeed.

Adolescent Awareness Program For School Children

An Adolescent Awareness Program was arranged for schoolchildren, and it owes its success in large part to the participation of Dr. Soniya Koli from Care Multi Specialty Hospital Ichalkaranji. Dr. Soniya presented an enlightening lecture, centering on various facets of adolescent health and well-being. This insightful session bestowed valuable information and guidance upon the young girls in attendance.

In addition to the lecture, we distributed sanitary pads and provided education to the girls about their significance in maintaining hygiene and overall well-being during menstruation

The core objective of this initiative was to advocate for menstrual hygiene management and to empower young girls with knowledge about their own bodies

The program garnered positive feedback from the school's management, who conveyed their gratitude to Equitas Development Initiatives Trust for orchestrating such a meaningful event.

We firmly believe that furnishing young girls with knowledge is essential for their comprehensive development and future prosperity. By raising awareness about pivotal subjects such as adolescent health, our aspiration is to create a positive impact in their lives.
